

PRESENTS!

We wish to emphasize the word PRESENTS and define its true meaning as it is employed in this announcement. The principle upon which we are building our business is to give the most and best quality for the lowest price, or give our customers goods a less, or the same prices prevailing elsewhere and give PRESENTS of value utility and beauty; such being the case, proves that in buying from us either with the presents or on the goods we sell without giving presents is a money saving scheme, as it gives greater values than can be procured on the same goods bought at other stores.

Five and one-half furlongs: Grey Forge, first; Kitty Clyde, second; Omella, third. Time, 2:08 1/4.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3.—Twenty thousand spectators at the fair grounds today witnessed the $2,500 racing match between Joe Patchen and Coney. In the first heat Patchen took the lead at the stable turn and led by a length to the half mile post; then Coney forged to the front and led to the betting ring, when Patchen came on and won easily by a length. Time, 2:05.

The second heat was practically a repetition of the first. Time 2:04 1/4. Dickerson drove Patchen, McHenry Coney.

By Associated Press.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 3.—Large crowd, weather fine, track fast. The Futurity for two-year-olds, purse $5000, was won by Mr. L. V. Harkness' Walnut Hall. This was the third race in five in the first two days of the meeting won by horses from the Walnut Hall stock farm. The purses aggregated $22,000. Priola in the Futurity was the strong favorite, and was played heavily at 25 to 15, but he made several breaks in the first two heats, and was distanced in the third. In the 2:12 pace Gam Boy won in straight heats, Iona being picked as a favorite at odds of 2 to 10. Arch W., the big favorite in the 2:12 class trotting, was not in the racing in any heat. The first two heats went to Lamp Girl in fast time. In the third heat the New York mare, Georgeanna, beat Lamp Girl at the wire. The next heat was easy for Georgeanna. In the last heat it took the New Yorker all she could do to stave off a rush of Onward Silver, driven by Ed Geers. At the conclusion of the race the judges fined Fred Noble, Georgeanna's driver, $500 for laying up in the first two heats.

COMPLETELY ROUTED

Were the Bears on the New York Stock Exchange.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 3.—Wall street was considerably puzzled by the resumption today of aggressive tactics for advance after the bull campaign, projected Monday, seemed yesterday to be abandoned. The force and proportions of it were sufficient to take the courage out of the bear party and to induce heavy covering all around. Small bears, who resumed for a time yesterday, were the first to fall the victims of the bulls, who, however, gave indications of being after larger game, and pursued the advantage with great confidence and abounding resources. They drove some long standing shorts to cover, which ultimately effected a buoyant rise on the whole market, which closed strong and active at the highest of the day and at net gains ranging from 1 to over 2 points for a large number of active stocks.

Bonds were not much affected by the activity in stocks, and prices changed were mixed.

Toledo, O., Oct. 3.—Wheat, 79 1/2; corn, 42; oats, 23; cloverseed, $7.27. Oil unchanged.

MAY PREVENT EXPLOSIONS.

Portable Electric Lamps to Be Introduced in Mining Operations to Succeed Present Oil One.

Old miners in England claim that they can always detect the presence of gas more quickly in their working places with a candle than with the ordinary safety lamp, and that they can always clear it off in a few minutes by fanning with their coats, the candle standing on the ground meanwhile, out of harm's way, the gas collecting near the roof. But mines are very different now from what they were in the typical old collier's days. Explosions in those days, when they did take place, were only local and did little harm beyond burning the clothes and skin of those near. In these days an explosion often means the loss of hundreds of lives and the wrecking of the mine, so that though many collieries are still worked by naked lights, either candles or small oil lamps, the number is becoming less every year, the pressure of mining inspectors being constantly directed to the adoption of safety lamps.

But the ordinary oil-burning safety lamp gives but a poor light, and it must not be used in any position much out of the vertical or it goes out, and, moreover, it is not a perfect safety lamp in the proper sense of the term, inasmuch as any one of the numerous forms will become red-hot and explode if it is exposed to a sufficiently powerful current of an explosive gaseous mixture for a sufficient time. Hence great efforts have been made to develop a portable electric lamp, which shall take the place of the present safety lamp at the face of the coal and in these parts of the mine where it is not considered safe to use lamps from the ordinary electric service.

LESSON IN CHINESE WORDS.

Here is an Easy Rule by Which They May Be Pronounced Correctly.

If a few simple rules are observed Chinese words are not difficult to pronounce. A always about as a in far; e always approximately as e in they; i very like i in the machine or pin, and u always as the u of rule. Every syllable has an independent value, and should be given that value in pronunciation. As for consonants, they are pronounced exactly as written. These three rules will secure as correct a pronunciation of Chinese names as can be secured without oral instruction, says the Chicago Chronicle.

For example, under the first rule, one would say tah-koo for Taku, not take-you, as one may frequently hear the word pronounced; lee-hoong-chahng for Li Hung Chang, not lie-hung-chang; peh-king for Peking, not peek-ink; shahng-hah-ee for Shanghai, not shang-high; tsoong-ly-yahmen for tung-li-yamen, not tunglie yamen, and so on. Under the second rule Tientsin is pronounced teyentsinn, accenting the yen syllable, not teentsin. Yunnan-fu is yoo-nahn-foo, not yunn-fun. In like manner all words are pronounced with syllable distinctness and with uniform vowel sound. Under the third rule the province name Szechuan is sounded not zekuan, but nearly as zeh-choo-ahn, touching the choo very lightly; Liautong peninsula is lie-hoo-tong.

SPOONS FROM EVERY HOTEL.

A Housekeeper's Fad That Astonished a Party of Roaming Bicyclists of Chicago.

In the northwestern part of Chicago is a little farm, removed from the main road over which the trolley cars rumble, and almost hidden by wide clover fields, says the Tribune of that city. It is not a regular stopping place for anyone going by on the main road, for no one would suspect that anything like civilization lurked among the tall weeds on that prairie.

Purely by accident some bicyclists stopped near the farmhouse, a little tumble-down structure with a dilapidated shed attached to it, owing to a bicycle mishap to one of the party. Inquiry for a drink of water brought to earth some of the most peculiar artificial well water ever drunk by mortal man, but the surprise came when some honey was brought out. The spoons offered to the party were undoubtedly silver, and of the best. They bore the inscription of all the big hotels of the city, including the Grand Pacific, Palmer house, Tremont, Revere and a number of others.

Some one suggested that they were souvenir spoons, but just how they came to be where they were discovered by the bicycling party is a mystery.

Changed Shirts with Each Other. The Outlook tells this story illustrative of the fussy, amateur generalship which has cost the British so dearly in South Africa: Notice was received in the various camps that on such and such a morning every man in Gen. —'s army must change his shirt. The Imperial Light horse, who formed part of the command, had only one shirt apiece, and that was on their backs, so a messenger was dispatched to headquarters to explain. But Gen. — rose at once to the occasion. 'My orders,' he remarked grandly, 'are imperative. If the Imperial Light horse have not got a second shirt let them change shirts with each other.'

Small Horses Best.

The experience of the British in South Africa is said to have demonstrated the superiority of small horses to the larger as draft animals in the field of hostilities. They can go longer without food, it is said, can do just as much good work and make a smaller target for the enemy.

WILHELM TO HAVE AUTOS.

The German Emperor is Ordering a General Assortment of Horseless Vehicles.

The Germans were slow in adopting the automobile, but now the emperor has taken it under his protecting wing and it is expected to become the fad in Berlin. A number of persons connected with the Berlin court are trying to do business with it, and there is a good deal of enterprise and readiness to speculate among the courtiers on the Spree. More than a year ago the kaiser's master of the horse inquired of a well-known carriage manufacturer in the capital if he could supply him with motor cars for the conveyance of visitors from the station to his majesty's country seat, at Wildpark, near Potsdam—the new palace. Since then the imperial post office has secured some heavy vans propelled on this principle; and now Kaiser Wilhelm himself is going to try this mode of traveling. In the month of August the kaiser visited the military drill ground at Alten-Grabow, in the province of Saxony, and traveled the distance from Wusterwitz to Ziesar and thence to Nedlitz in a motor car. The carriage-maker above referred to has offered his majesty a present of three of such vehicles, which he has graciously accepted. The roads in the neighborhood were specially put in order for the convenience of the imperial party.

HAVEN FOR CLEVER THIEVES.

Criminals Find a Safe Refuge from Justice in the Republic of Honduras.

This is one corner of Central America that is at present a perfect paradise for men who have committed any crime. It is a place where the outcasts of the world's society rule the land of their adoption—and where the officials of the government protect all thieves that come to them and make it dangerous for any detective to molest them.

This is the republic of Honduras, one of the least advanced of the states in South or Central America. Honduras, indeed, is a curious mixture of jungles and gigantic forest of cocoa and rubber trees, of bugs, vampires, snakes and crocodiles—of all manner of things that creep and crawl and sting and bite; a region where life in the daytime is a mockery, and at night one feels as though sleeping in red pepper.

Here, in every hamlet and city, are to be found men from different lands, mostly outlaws from their own country. Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia all furnish their quota. England, France, Italy and even far-away Russia have their share. They make no attempt at concealment, bear the names they were born to wear, and go along about their business as if the laws of their own country had not declared them outcasts.

DOG COULDN'T STAND IT.

The Excitement Was Too Much and It Expired While Watching Women in a Fight.

They were only sisters, but the merry way in which they plucked out each other's hair by the roots in the vestibule entrance to a Dearborn avenue apartment house indicated a longstanding mutual hatred, reports the Chicago Chronicle. Several hundred excited spectators gathered from the street and near-by flats, but among them all there was none who evinced any desire to separate the women who were pounding each other and rolling on the floor in a confusion and strenuousness that won the plaudits of the crowd.
